Dear Jeffrey

I am very happy to recommend Andrew. I have found him to be one of the best mediators I have used (and I must have used at least ten, across probably 50+ mediations in the last 20 years and tend to be quite picky). He is meticulous in his preparation and pre-mediation engagement. He maintains neutrality but not to the point of refraining from ever expressing a view on points, especially where a party needs to hear why they might struggle with a certain argument. He also sticks with a dispute even after the mediation - chasing the parties up to see if he can get a settlement over the line, weeks or sometimes even months later. And, perhaps most importantly, he is very pleasant to deal with on the day!

I hope that helps?

Kind regards

Toby

Dear Jeffrey (I hope I may),

I am happy to give you a few words of recommendation which I provide in a personal capacity rather than on behalf of my firm (although in that context I am the Head of ADR at Herbert Smith Freehills LLP with responsibility for mediation training, advocacy and interface with the ADR community and a mediator myself).

I have instructed Andrew personally in a recent (Autumn 2021) multi-party mediation, having known him for about 3 years professionally. He conducted the complex proceedings very effectively (virtually – the parties were in London and two of the UAE states), was immaculately prepared and helped the parties to a suitable resolution on the day. I have recommended Andrew to other clients and colleagues and I believe at least one of my partners has used him with similarly positive feedback. I would have thought he was eminently qualified to be a member of the IAM.

I trust that is sufficient but would be happy to elaborate if needed.

Kind regards

Alex

Dear Jeffrey,

Please accept my apologies for overlooking your previous email.

I will happily stand as referred for Andrew Miller QC as a Mediator. He conducted a Mediation recently involving our client, as one of three, in which the other two were “difficult”. He handled it extremely well and persevered when others might have declared the mediation over. It ended in a settlement.

I have recommended him internally to colleagues.

Best regards

Peter
